The Angkor Club, under the excellent sponsorship of Madame Fountain and the able leadership of Margaret Ewin, has made the year 1955-1956 an outstanding one.

In the many campus organizations the Angkor Club was well represented. Irene Jackson was president of the Honor Society, and Elizabeth Ewing and Mary Cornelius were members. Tish Fort was vice-president of the Student Council; officers of the Athletic Association included Barbara Massey and Linda Williams, Elizabeth Ewing, Irene Jackson, Mary Cornelius, and Betsy Rhett Ball were members of Penstaff. Officers of the Art Club were Gretchen Hahn and Anne Harrison; Carole Minton was Glee Club president, Irene Jackson was also business manager of MILESTONES, and Cynthia Hastings, Betsy Rhett Ball, and Mary Cornelius were on the staff. Angkor officers in the language department included Ashley Whitsitt, Spanish Club president, and Betsy Rhett Ball, president of the Junior Classical League. President of the Science Club was Cynthia Hastings, Julia Fort was freshman class president.

In addition to their high ideals of citizenship and scholarship, the Angkors exhibited enthusiastic sportsmanship by participating actively in the entire sports program.

For those wearing the blue and white, 1955-1956 was indeed full of success.

ANGKOR CLUB

A R I S T O N C L U B

The year 1955-1956 has been full of victories for the Ariston Club. Each girl, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Mann and the leadership of Mary Lindsay Polk, worked with all her talents to make the club outstanding. Such girls as Maq Teas, Marilyn Hovey, Sally Smith, and Nancy Hedrick led their club to win on the athletic field. The Aristons had many members in the school clubs, Pam Parker and Betty Caldwell represented the club in the Honor Society, and Linda Christie, Nancy Harris, Lillian Campbell, and Betty Caldwell held membership in Penstaff.

In school elections the gold and white banner waved high. The Aristons were well represented in school offices by Pat Spickard, sophomore class president; Peggy Reynolds, junior class president; Pam Parker, senior class president; Betty Caldwell, Student Council secretary; and Marilyn Hovey, Athletic Association president. Betsy Gwynn, Ruth Early, Carol Ledyard, Martha Prueher, Carol Parker, Sally Smith, Gretchen Gardner, Lynn Voss, and Cornelia Carrier, all Ariston members, held various offices in their respective classes.

Thus in athletics, scholarship, and citizenship the Ariston Club marched forward to complete a successful year.

Under the enthusiastic and level-headed leadership of Betty B. Shwab and Miss Mims, the Eccowasin Club completed another victorious year. The ardent support of the members carried the green and white to success in athletics, scholarship, and citizenship.

On the hockey field, in the gym, and on the tennis courts, Eccowasins excelled in sportsmanship and athletic ability. Among the club's capable athletes were Frances Horn, Ann Shull, and Caroline Boyd. Cheering them on to victory were Betsy Stengel, Peggy Ann McKeand, Helen Porter, and Alva Herbert. Even though the score did not always show them on top, they were never truly defeated.

Ranking high in scholarship were such "brainy gals" as Martha Parrent and Ann Tirrell. Nancy McIntosh, Polly Akin, and Betsy Lowe represented the club in Penstaff.

The French Club, Honor Society, Science Club, and Latin Club recognized the leadership ability of Eccowasins and chose Susan McKeand, Lynda Gillum, Betty Bouchard, and Evie Davis to be among their officers. Club members holding class offices were Judy Maddox, Polly Akin, and Gale Greenleaf.

Each and every girl contributed and co-operated to give the Eccowasin Club a feeling of unity and pride.

ECCOWASIN CLUB

TRIAD CLUB

Under the leadership of Linda Lackey and with the wholehearted support of Miss Mountfort, the Triad Club made the year a memorable one. Each member strove to keep her club's rating high in citizenship, scholarship, and athletic activities.

The Triads had their eyes on the citizenship and scholarship awards. Adding citizenship points to their club were Carolyn Carmichael, president of the Student Council, June McCoy, president of Penstaff, and Nancy Hardison, editor of the MILESTONES. Two members served as officers in the Honor Society, and Betty Daniel was Pontifex Maximus of the Junior Classical League. Representing the red and white scholastically were Patsy Griffin, Kathy Starr, Helen Riddle, Mary Trabue, and Mary Ann Braden. Betty Tippens, Luann Evans, Virginia Bass, and Bev Bryan were members of Penstaff.

Triad sportsmanship and team spirit excelled. One great and happy victory was the winning of the hockey trophy in the fall. Leading their team to success were Gretchen Iron, Carol Beaman, Mason Ewin, and Judy Lackey.

At Thanksgiving and Easter all the Triads joined together to collect clothes, food, and toys to send to a needy family. Through these projects and many more like them, the Triad spirit soared to make the club better than ever.

The Student Council is the governing body of Harpeth Hall School. It is composed of two representatives elected semi-annually from each class and is sponsored by Mrs. Eggleston. Led by Carolyn Carmichael and the other officers, the Student Council has ably carried out its purpose of directing the student as an individual and of imposing penalties whenever necessary. This year the Council made it possible for the students to obtain school jackets. It also sponsored a highly successful tea dance, which was held in the gym. During the year the Student Council has guided the students to higher ideals of citizenship and has brought about a closer relationship between teachers and students.

Striving to develop the creative ability of those girls showing interest and talent in the field of writing, the Penstaff Club serves as a stimulus for the improvement of individual style. Girls desirous of becoming members must submit two manuscripts to be judged at an annual contest. Informal meetings provide an atmosphere conducive to the friendly discussion of original works. By constructive criticism, members both aid each other and gain the ability to see clearly their own faults.

The Honor Society is composed of girls chosen by the school's high standards of citizenship, leadership, and scholarship. Every member aspires to develop the finest of individual personalities, a strong loyalty for her school, and a sincere desire to aid her fellow students.

Each year this group has the opportunity to plan the Wednesday morning devotionals in which the members participate. Once or twice during the year an assembly is held at which the requirements for membership are stated, and new members are tapped.

The Athletic Association, an organization enabling each member of the student body to participate actively in the school's extensive sports program, has as its main purpose the promotion of good sportsmanship at Harpell Hall. The various sports include tennis, hockey, table tennis, volleyball, basketball, archery, and baseball. Trophies and club letters reward outstanding achievement in these sports. Membership is granted to those who have earned three club letters or a varsity letter. The group's work is supervised by the Athletic Board, made up of the officers of the Association and a representative from each club and each class.

The Science Club, under the guidance of Miss Penny and Cynthia Hastings, has created an active interest in science for its members. This group is made up of all chemistry and biology students who want to learn more about science in everyday life. An outstanding event of the year was the annual trip to the American Museum of Atomic Energy at Oak Ridge, Tennessee. Also, during the year the club presents a scientific exhibition to which all the student body is invited. By these and other varied activities, the club succeeded in completing another successful year.

The Junior Classical League is a chapter of a national organization which seeks to further interest in Latin and the history connected with it. The club's membership is made up of those girls who have had at least one full year of Latin. Every two weeks the group met to enjoy fascinating discussions that gave life to the Latin language. Near Christmas time the members presented in assembly an entertaining program which included many familiar carols sung in Latin.

By various projects executed during the year and by study of the history of art, the members of the Art Club have gained a true appreciation and interest in painting and drawing. Under the skilled guidance of Mrs. Litkenhaus, this group designed posters for the Y.W.C.A. In a contest sponsored by the local chapter of the United Nations, Art Club members, Ann Harrison and Betty Stephens, won the first and second awards for their posters. Also, as a highlight of the year, the girls displayed their outstanding drawings at the annual Christmas tea given for their mothers.

The French Club strives to foster interest in the customs as well as the language of France. Any girl studying French is eligible for membership and may attend the meetings held twice a month. Because all meetings are conducted in French, each girl becomes better acquainted with the spoken language. The games, skits, and songs, used as entertainment, portray customs of this land. In a play presented at Christmas for the student body, all members participated and worked enthusiastically under the direction of Madame Fountain.

The Spanish Club, under the leadership of Miss Mims, has done much during the past year to instill in its members an active interest in the language and customs of the Latin-American people. This year, for the first time, a Spanish Club constitution was drawn up and a club song adopted. Also on the agenda for 1956 was a Christmas pageant. In the spring the club sponsored a party at which native food was served and to which the members came dressed in native costumes.
